REMIND ME

Dear God,

When I cannot see you,
remind me that you never lose sight of me.
When I cannot hear you,
remind me that you never miss a word I pray.
When I cannot reach you,
remind me that you hold me in your arms.
When I cannot find you,
remind me that you always seek me.
When I cannot trust you,
remind me that you never give up on me.

And when I cannot, well, whatever:
remind me that you can, you do, and you will. Amen.

Lecture Series on Catholic Education

Join the Catholic Teachers' Guild of Regina and Dr. Brett Salkeld for their lecture series on Catholic Education at St. Martin de Porres Parish (4720 Castle Road) on Tuesday, June 4. Evening begins with prayer and fellowship at 7. Talk set to begin at 7:30. Or to join us live online, sign up for the free webinar at <http://thinkcatholic.thinkific.com/courses/free-webinar-series-a-catholic-way-of-knowing>

Our next topic is:

Permeating Math and Science

While every Catholic high school student should know names like Gregor Mendel (the monk who discovered genetics) or Georges LeMaitre (the priest who first hypothesized the Big Bang), the bigger questions here are about the relationship between God, humanity and a remarkably ordered universe. “What does it say about the universe that we can create a language to describe it with the precision of mathematics?” “What kind of thing is humanity, that it would create such a language?” “Why are math and science both predictable and full of surprises?” “What kind of Creator makes a reality like this?” Come out and think about how even math and science are full of opportunities for bringing a Catholic worldview into our classrooms.
